Your Evergreen system provides extra reassurance that your appliances and equipment are functioning properly. You can receive text messages or email alerts warning you about potentially dangerous situations. For example, receive an alert when a circuit is about to overload so you reduce the risk of electrical fires and your family is not stranded in the dark. You can receive alerts if the stove has been left on longer than its 180-minute threshold that you set for it, or if an appliance has been off for too long, such as a home medical device, which could be endangering someone◆s health. We all hope we never have to use extra safety measures, but we are always grateful they are there for us if do need them.
